

Study Abroad or Co-Op Learning Contract

Gemstone encourages students to enrich their academic experience while at the University by studying abroad and/or participating in a co-op opportunity. Because of the nature of team research, there times that are more appropriate for students to take advantage of such opportunities.

The following are your responsibilities to assure that you earn the Gemstone Citation. Failure to comply with the restrictions below can result in not earning the Gemstone Citation. Please carefully review the following:

- You may study abroad or co-op spring of sophomore year or either semester of junior year
- You are not permitted to study abroad or co-op
 - o until you have completed GEMS 202 in the fall semester of the sophomore year
 - o during the senior year when writing the team thesis and participating in the Team Thesis Conference is mandatory
 - o for more than one semester
- The Gemstone Program should be aware of your intention to study abroad or co-op. You must complete a Learning Contract with your team and mentor ONE SEMESTER PRIOR to your planned time away.
- You should submit your learning contract to the Gemstone Associate Director for approval at least one month before the end of classes. If the Gemstone Program has concerns about the contract, you must have enough time to address the concerns BEFORE you leave for the semester.
- If you leave without an APPROVED contract, you may not receive the Gemstone Citation.
- An approved contract has to be turned in before you leave with all signatures, a grading criteria specified, and activities that reflect how you will contribute significantly to the on going work of the team.
- You should make sure that you register for the missed Gemstone research seminar listed under the Gemstone Associate Director's name when you return to campus. There are special sections of GEMS 297, GEMS 396, and GEMS 397 that you should add to your schedule by the schedule adjustment deadline.

This contract should be completed as an agreement with your mentor and team. This contract is about fairness to the WHOLE team.

Study Abroad or Co-Op Learning Contract

This section is to be completed by the mentor, student, and team.

Activities defined by answering the following questions should show substantial contribution to the research, and the load carried by the student away should be as much as other teammates. Grading criteria for this student should be based on performance as defined in this contract. You MUST completely answer the questions below in order for the contract to be approved.

1. What assignment(s) will you complete that will SIGNIFICANTLY contribute to the team's research? By what deadline will these assignments be done? How will failure to complete the work or complete it on time affect the grade?
2. How will you obtain feedback from the team? Please list the pieces of the team's work in which you will provide feedback. How often will you be in contact with the team? What is the reduction in grade if this does not happen?
3. How will work done while away from campus be graded?
